

TIME TO GO JOHN

Q How many Australian filmmakers does it take to make a Michael Moore film?

A 15 determined filmmakers who did the job in less than 7 weeks, with no budget, no production company, no catering, but with unrelenting enthusiasm, humour and determination.

We made this feature length documentary because we love Australia. We are united—we want to get rid of Howard.

Here's what we plan to show you:

8 years of lies, Iraq, disenchanted Liberals, Aboriginal reconciliation, asylum seekers, East Timor, the price of beer—and what it means to be an Australian.

Time To Go Johnny (in case you haven't made up your mind).

National Screenings in cinemas, halls, pubs and homes from 29 September.

For more information: www.timetogojohn.com